W. J. HESLEY RETIRES

With the coming of the New Year Mr. W. J. Hesley retired from the Grocery business which he has conducted in Perrysburg, being succeeded by Mr. Lawrence E. Eckel, who assumed charge of the business on Monday.

During the two years that Mr. Hesley has been in business he has been very successful and has proven his ability and knowledge of the business in which he has been greatly assisted by his wife.

In retiring from Perrysburg business circles they do so with the best wishes of their former patrons and many friends who regret their departure and bid them success in future, wherever they choose to locate.

They will probably remain here a few weeks before seeking another location.

Mr. Eckel is a young man who was born and raised here and is well and favorably known. He enters upon his new undertaking with a large circle of friends who will gladly extend to him their patronage and good will, and he will leave no opportunity pass to convince the public of his desire to give them the best possible service.

Read his announcement in this paper.

TEMPLE OF JUSTICE

New Officials Assume Positions in Wood County Court House.

Monday was a great day in the Court house as it was the occasion for the departure of old officers and the coming of the new.

The January term of Common Pleas court opened with Judge E. G. McClelland on the bench.

His Honor appeared unaffected by his change of position and without any apparent nervousness or other indications of his exalted position took up the assignment of cases.

The Grand Jury was called and sworn after which the Court gave them the usual charge describing their duties as Jurors in a manner that could admit of no misunderstanding.

J. N. Baker was appointed Court Bailiff and immediately assumed his duties.

There was a large number of attorneys as well as many citizens present and the new Judge received many congratulations.

Down in the Prosecuting Attorney's office there is also a new face for on this same day Hon. Charles S. Hatfield retired from the office of Prosecuting Attorney and was succeeded by Hon. Earl K. Solesher. As usual his fellow officials did not permit Hatfield to depart without the usual presentation of a fine traveling bag which seems to have been adopted as the badge of a retired Wood county official. The presentation was made by Recorder Adams and Mr. Hatfield responded in a pleasing speech indicative of his appreciation of the gift.

Mr. Gus Skibbie, as Sheriff, opened court for the first time, but Gus has been a handy man around the Court house so long that he conducted himself like a veteran.

And thus the New Year made a good start in the Court house.

FARMERS GET RELIEF

The state veterinarian today reported three new outbreaks of the foot and mouth disease, including two Wood county herds and one in Lucas county.

Some relief to Wood county farmers is given by the order which was issued by the federal government Thursday permitting interstate shipments of live stock, after bureau inspection, from outside the five-mile radius of infected premises in counties of Belmont, Erie, Hancock, Huron, Knox, Licking, Muskingum, Richland and Seneca.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

State Inspector Says Perrysburg Schools Should Have More Room.

The State Inspector of High Schools in his report to the state Superintendent regarding the conditions of the Perrysburg schools said the schools were in good condition in every way except that they were sadly in need of more room, and that they were too crowded in all departments.

To those who have given our schools any attention, this condition has been all too apparent and the Journal has heard considerable complaint, particularly from those who have small children in the schools, and the action of the Board of Education in compelling certain grade of scholars to attend school in one of the old town hall rooms for the past year or two has been much deplored by their respective parents.

An investigation of conditions has shown that every grade up to the Fifth grade has now nearly double the number of pupils which is recommended for any one room or teacher, and upon inquiry the Journal learns that the question of First grade scholars this year was a perplexing one and as the Board did wish not put still another grade into the town hall, it was finally decided to crowd them into one room and place two teachers in charge. While this is temporarily feasible it is hardly the best for the children from a sanitary point of view as well as from an educational standpoint.

Present conditions indicate that next year it will be necessary to supply two rooms for each of the First, Second, Third and Fourth grades which means at least four extra rooms.

This fact brings up the important question—Where are these rooms to be found in Perrysburg?

The Journal suggests that the Board of Education look into the possibilities of an addition to the present building so that the management of the entire schools will be carried on under one roof.

Every effort should be made to make our schools the very best in the state and this is impossible in their present crowded condition.

AGRICULTURAL MEETINGS

Governor Willis and Other National Speakers Will Make Addresses.

Beginning Monday, January 11, 1915, Inauguration day, there will be held in Columbus, the greatest series of meetings ever arranged in the interest of Ohio agriculture.

Two big general meetings will be held at which time all meetings will suspend. The first general meeting will be on the afternoon of Wednesday, January 13, at the Fair Ground.

Hon. Ezra A. Tuttle of New York will speak upon the subject of co-operative marketing of crops and products. Every producer can make good wages by coming to hear this one talk. Prof. Brown of the U. On Thursday the general meetings will be held in the city, at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium.

Prof. C. B. Smith of Washington, D. C., will explain the work of the County Agent. Ohio farmers should take great interest in this subject as Uncle Sam and the State of Ohio will spend large sums of money for this work.

Governor Willis will make his first official address to the farmers and producers of the state.

These meetings in connection with the Winter Exposition at the same time should insure large attendance.

WILLIAMS GROCERY

On Saturday last Mr. A. R. Williams purchased and assumed charge of the Grocery business formerly conducted by Mr. R. Fralic.

For some time past his son, Elbert Williams has been employed as clerk in this store and has familiarized himself with the business sufficiently to enable him to understand the needs of the trade, and until his father, Mr. A. R. Williams, can leave his present position in Toledo the son will look after the Grocery business.

Mr. Williams is so well known in Perrysburg and vicinity that he needs no introduction and his knowledge of business and extensive acquaintance will be an assurance of a successful career.

The Union delivery will be employed for delivery of our goods.

THE WORM TURNED

Ohio Auto Owner Received Verdict Against a Farmer.

Landlord William Wilkie, of Hotel Milikin, is probably the first automobile owner in Ohio to receive a verdict carrying damages against a farmer whose stock had been injured.

In the suit brought by William C. Bredehoff against Mr. Wilkie and which was tried in Port Clinton last week the jury brought in a verdict of $5 damages for Mr. Wilkie. This means that the costs are charged against the plaintiff.

On August 31st, 1913, Mr. Wilkie's automobile collided with two horses belonging to Bredehoff. They were a part of a herd of six which had broken out of a pasture field and which were being returned there. Mr. Wilkie claimed the two horses ran into him and damaged his machine. Bredehoff sued for $250 damages, one of the horses having a leg broken. One point raised against plaintiff was that in driving his horses back, he had gone over a much used road instead of driving them by a less frequented highway or taking them into a barn yard and securing them by halter.

I desire to announce that the firm of McClelland & Bowman, Attorneys and Counsellors at law, was dissolved on December 31, 1914, for the reason that the senior member of said firm, Mr. McClelland, was elected Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, for Wood County, Ohio, and has assumed the duties of that office, which prohibit him from engaging in the practice of law.
